

Manufacturer

The Client

Manufacturer

60 Users

Key Outcomes

-  Identification of Vulnerabilities
-  Actionable Insights and Roadmap
-  Enhanced Cybersecurity Posture

Introduction

When it comes to cyber security, being in the dark about the vulnerabilities that your business may have can prove fatal. Recognising this, a growing manufacturing company with a 60-user system wanted to ensure their IT environment was not presenting weaknesses that could be exploited by cyber threats. We helped them to gain clarity and actionable insights to ensure this is not the case.

The Challenge

The manufacturer needed a detailed assessment of their IT environment to discover any gaps in their security and get actionable insights on what measures to prioritise. Being a large organisation with many pieces to its IT environment, this required a nuanced and systematic approach that leaves no stone unturned.

The Solution

We conducted a thorough security assessment spanning the whole scope of the client's IT environment, including their devices, network, their production systems, apps, and hosting infrastructure. This led to a comprehensive report detailing not only the weaknesses that were uncovered, but also a full action plan that the manufacturer could deploy in alignment with their operational needs. The client, equipped with a clear and comprehensive plan, seized the opportunity to advance their cybersecurity stance with confidence. This roadmap not only provided actionable clarity regarding their current cybersecurity status but also illuminated pathways to fortify their defences for the future. Crucially, this strategic roadmap played a pivotal role in guiding their decision-making process as they considered the adoption of new, more cyber-secure systems and technologies.

To Conclude

We take pride in facilitating our client's progression towards establishing an IT environment that robustly protects their sensitive operational processes. By doing so, we ensure seamless business continuity, affording them the peace of mind necessary to concentrate on further expanding their enterprise with undivided focus.

“Great, friendly and professional service. Responsive and always very happy to help.”

-Ian Broadway